Subject: For info - OPS Feb 11 meeting - Chief Sloly's comments re injunction

Hello David,

Ahead of the Council meeting later today, the following is for your information in the event that Chair Deans has not yet followed up with your office.

At the Feb 11 OPS Board meeting, Chief Sloly is responding to queries and notes the responsibility for the injunction and how closely OPS has worked with the City's legal team, however advises it's for the City's legal team to comment on the status of the injunction and responsibility to pursue it to the extent possible. Sandy Smallwood mentions you've said something similar, but advised you were waiting on the OPS. Chair Deans advised she would contact you to get a written response for Chair Smallwood and the board.

Chief Sloly:

before this demonstration and occupation arrived in the city we've identified an injunction as a possible tool that we could use to get a successful outcome. I directed general counsel christian to reach out to david white in the city to start discussions around how we would even begin to make an application that was before a single trucker demonstrator arrived in the city and we've worked continuously with the city ever since then.

Ultimately your question should be directed to the city legal and it's the city's decision around a city injunction but we have made ourselves available proactively reached out to the city to start the process and made ourselves fully available even before a single demonstrator or truck arrived in the city

that's as much as i can answer from an Ottawa police standpoint . it would be for the city to comment further on the status of the injunction and their intent to pursue that to the fullest extent possible

Sandy Smallwood:

thank you chief and chair i know that david white made virtually a mirror statement saying he was all ready to go and just waiting for the police so i am a little concerned that we seem to be everybody's ready to go and nobody's going so maybe i don't know if david white is on the call but i'm sure the residents would like to get this resolved so that it's not caught in limbo which it appears to be thank you chair

david are you on the call

hi chair this is hannah unfortunately david white wasn't able to join the call nor was glenn christie

Chair Deans:

okay um i would then agree to take that question to david white and try and get a written answer for you member smallwood and i'll circulate it to the board
